

The Gay Couples Study

August 1, 2008

Subject: OFFICES MOVING TO A NEW LOCATION

Dear Participant(s),

Effective September 1, 2008, the Gay Couples Study will relocate to the Center for Research on Gender and Sexuality (CRGS) at San Francisco State University (SFSU). Our new offices will be located at 835 Market Street, Suite 517 in the Westfield Centre, which is at the intersection of Powell and Market Streets in San Francisco.

We are moving because Colleen Hoff, PhD, the Principal Investigator for the Gay Couples Study, has accepted the position of Professor with the Department of Sexuality Studies and Director of the CRGS, both of which are part of SFSU. Because she has accepted these positions and will be moving to SFSU, the Gay Couples Study is moving with her. We will become a project of the CRGS.

The CRGS is an interdisciplinary community of SFSU faculty, students, and staff dedicated to generating innovative social science research questions, methods, and theories, and training new investigators. Working in collaboration with community organizations and social movements, the CRGS is committed to producing new and useful knowledge about sexuality and gender. Their goal is to promote social justice and well-being by recognizing and challenging how inequalities undermine healthy sexuality.

Our toll-free hotline (1-888-688-1777) and website (www.gaycouplesstudy.org) will not change. Please continue to contact us through those means, as you have done previously.

This move will not affect the objectives of the study or the date and time of your next appointment. It will only affect where you go to participate in the study. The only exception to this is for those of you with appointments between the dates of Tuesday, August 19, 2008 and Friday, September 12, 2008, when we will be closed for the move. If your appointment falls between those dates, we will be contacting you to reschedule it.

If you have questions or concerns about this move, please contact us at 1-888-688-1777. We thank you for your continued participation in the study and look forward to seeing you at our new offices!

Please see below for detailed instructions on how to find our new offices and a map with nearby parking lots.
